

Lundvick's Gazette
Friday, January 27, 2012
News You Can Use!

Math

We are in full force for multiplication. Students are working really hard. Our final test is set for Jan. 24. We will have at least 2 days of review prior as well as a review sheet will go home.

We are will also be doing mad minutes twice a week. Please continue to review addition and subtraction problems as well as working on division and multiplication. Those who pass all 3 will participate in a pizza party in the Spring.

Science

Students are working with Mrs. Michael on their civics unit. This will prepare them for our trip to Lansing which will be in the Spring. It is important if a student does bring something home to study for civics that they do. They receive grades in our rotations.

Reading/Writing

Students will be reading the story The Blind Hunter. Each week students will be assigned Grammar, Spelling and Practice Book pages. We will also be doing guided reading and writer's workshop. We have also finished our second personal narrative.

Every Monday there will is a Pre-test and every Friday is a spelling test. Students should be studying for the test during the week.

Social Studies

The next stop for Social Studies will be a crop dust tour of the Midwest. Students enjoy this chapter as many of them are quite familiar with what we will be reading. This is a 2 week unit.

Upcoming Dates

1/31: Humane Society donations due
2/10: Flashmob in between Varsity Girl's and Boy's basketball game
2/14: Valentine's Party @ 2:30

Planners need to be returned and signed every morning. Those students who do not come to school with a backpack or planner will not be going out for recess. We are working on responsibility as we make our way through 4th grade.

Extra News

Great job on getting those 7 books completed for the 2nd marking period. On Monday, students will begin their next set of books. In order to stay organized, most students should be completing at least 1 book every 2 weeks. These books will be due March 23.